The grief among the Democrats is on the boom.
The size of the Chicago Times, like its politics, is very flexible.
Tilden and his nephew have a place in history. So has "Boss" Tweed.
Nearly everything of a Democratic character is getting badly "left." If there is any one thing that troubles the Democrats in Congress more than does Tilden's health, it is Washburn's seat.
The most hopeful set of men in the country are those belonging to the Blaine Club.
According to their figuring there is nothing in the way of his nomination at Chicago.

That "council of physicians" didn't kill Mr. Tilden as quick as they expected to He is making more money by speculation and doing more work than any millionaire in New York.
There are some individuals who have the modesty to believe that they know more about what should be done at Chicago, than the combined wisdom of the Republican Convention.

The Democrats in Congress are getting down to business. They shake their fists in each other's face and give the lie. There is nothing that will make the Democratic party squirm so easily as to throw facts at it.
Judging from the way some of the Democratic papers are pounding away at Mr. Tilden, that "corps" must be regaining life. It is a strange thing how a "dead" man will bother that "great" party of reform.

Governor Smith has appointed Senator McGrew, of Richmond, a member of the Committee to investigate the State Hospital. The only objection we find to Mc-Grew, "is that he was one of the four who opposed any investigation of the affairs of the hospital. He didn't want the hospital nest disturbed under any circumstances.

The pension mania is still among the members of Congress. There is a proposition to pension non-commissioned officers, to retire privates at half pay, after a given term of service, and General Burnside, in the Senate, goes so far as to support the proposition that persons in the civil service should be pensioned. Luke England, this country will soon become a land of pensioners, if a check is not used.

Secretary Sherman's brother-in-law, O.
W. Moulton, is charged with the statement that the Secretary entertains little or no doubt of his nomination at Chicago.
Moulton is a very foolish brother-in-law.
There is no more chance that Secretary Sherman will be nominated at Chicago, than that Judge Davis will be. Sherman is a good man and a great financial Secretary, but there should be some common sense and reason to the statements a man makes public on such a question as the Presidency.

A new ground for divorce has been found in Indiana. Peter Lay and his wife are divided in politics—he being a Democrat and she a stalwart Republican.
Mr. Lay subscribed for the Lafayette Dispatch, his party paper, but Mrs. Lay so detested the sheet that she refused to allow the carrier to deliver it. It was then left in the barn where Mr. Lay could find it, but that did not prevent the wife from getting it and putting it in the store. Thelma went on in this way until Peter's patience was entirely exhausted, and he decided to apply to the court for divorce, and consulted a lawyer, and the counsel advised him to bring the suit. It will be tried this month, and much interest will be felt in the result. This case will doubtless satisfy Dean Voorhees that the disposition of Mrs.
Lay proves that Indiana must be carried by the Republicans at all hazards.

THE JAMESVILLE GAZETTE.

VOLUME 24 JAMESVILLE, WISCONSIN, FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1880. NUMBER 28

THE STATE FAIR.
The State fair committee has not yet decided where the exhibition of 1880 will be held, though it can be taken for granted that Madison will have it. There does not seem to be any particular desire on the part of any of the prominent cities to secure the fair, and for that reason there has not been anything like the heated contests for its location that once took place.
This year there were four cities which the committee had an eye on, Milwaukee, Janesville, Madison and La Crosse. Milwaukeeke promised to put the grounds in good condition for the exhibition. Several hundred dollars were subscribed in Janesville—nearly one thousand, be believe—for the purpose of putting the fair grounds in such a condition as would meet the requirements of the State agricultural society, but the Rock county society wanted five hundred dollars for the use of the grounds, and this would increase the amount of money necessary to be raised to $1,500, which was a greater sum than was thought could be subscribed, and therefore the claim of Janesville was abandoned.

It will take about one thousand dollars to repair the old grounds at Madison, and of this sum, about seven hundred dollars have been secured, and the balance will likely be forthcoming this week or next. This will probably give Madison the fair, and on the whole it is just as well, as Madison is more central, the railway facilities excellent, and the grounds and buildings very suitable. La Crosse was inclined to hope for it, and had subscribed several hundred dollars, but it would have been bad policy to have held it there. It is too far from the center of population and for this very important reason transportation would have been less convenient than to any of the other places, and certainly the attendance would have been much less in numbers than at either Milwaukee, Janesville or Madison.

Inasmuch as Janesville does not care about the fair, we hope it will be located at Madison for the reasons already given.
We believe that location would suit more people in the State than any other place, and the people of that city should not be backward in subscribing the amount necessary to put the grounds and buildings in suitable condition. There should be no lukewarmness or disinterestedness in this matter on the part of the Madison people.
The State fair is a very important institution. It is one which deserves the hearty support of every farmer, manufacturer, and business man. It is a credit to the State, and a practical benefit to the people.

THE POWER OF THE OHIOAGO CON-VENTION.
The success of the Republican party in the great struggle of 1880, depends very largely upon the work of the Chicago Convention. That body holds in its hands the fate of the party. It can give it almost a matchless victory, or it can lead to bitter defeat. The Republican party is strong and its aims and purposes are grand, but it is not strong enough to over-ride certain blunders the Chicago Convention might make. The question as to what it will do and how it will demean itself, becomes a very important one. But we apprehend there will be no fatal antagonisms in the Convention. The delegates may differ as to whether Washburn, Blaine or Grant should be nominated, but when it comes to the vital question as to the duty of the Republican party, there will be no difference of opinion. There can be no difference in the judgment of honest and intelligent men on that question.

Whatever will contribute to the harmony and strength of the party, and the good of the country, should be done at Chicago in June. If the deliberate judgment of the wisest men in the Convention is that General Grant is the safest and the strongest man, then it should be Grant. If the political wisdom of the Convention agrees that Mr. Blaine is a more powerful leader, and can command a strength and plant a hope that general Grant can not, then let Blaine be the standard-bearer. But if the Chicago Convention with its 750 delegates, representing the intelligence and the political sentiment of the party in their respective States, are moved to believe that Elihu B. Washburn is a name that no party can dishonor, and a man whom defeat can never overtake, then let it electrify the country, and arouse the enthusiasm and bring out the power of the great party, by naming E. B. Washburn. Whichever of these things will help the party most and be the safest for the country, should be done.

The mission of the Republican party is not ended. Its work is not yet done. So long as there are hostilities in the South against the government, so long as the aims and purposes of the Democratic party are mischievous and revolutionary, so long as there is any attempt to destroy the general power of the government, and so long as frauds and violence are attempted in the South, just so long will there be a work for the Republican party. The Chicago Convention should understand the situation, and we believe it will. It should also understand the power that it holds over the destinies of the party and the interests of the country. There should be no attempt to force any candidate through the Convention, and there should be no course taken which will not tend to unite the party, to make it stronger and more certain of an aggressive victory.

With a candidate that has the confidence of the country, and a platform which takes a bold stand on the living questions of the day, there can be no danger of defeat.
The Democratic party is contributing as much as it possibly can to the success of the Republican ticket, but the Republicans do not want to place too much reliance on the blunders of that party. The great power to win should lie right within our own party, and the candidate and the platform should be of that unexceptionable character which will place the party far beyond the possibility of defeat.

THE KELLOGG CASE.

Democratic Senatorial Caucus on the Question of Unseating Kellogg.
WASHINGTON, March 8.—The Democratic Senators held two sessions in caucus today, and the proceedings therein were quite interesting. The caucus was called at the instance of the Democratic members of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, and the subject for consideration was the Kellogg case, as from the expressions of Senators in private it had been demonstrated that a number of them were opposed to taking up the report of the committee declaring Kellogg not entitled to the seat.
The Senators who participated in the caucus talked very freely of what took place, which enables the following to be given as a substantially correct record.
Speeches as to the line of action on the case of Kellogg were made by Messrs. Sani-bury, Vance and Hall, of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, by Mr. Jones, and others. General Maxey, of Texas, did not favor action at this time, and gave his reasons at some length.
Senator Garland indicated that he was not in favor of taking up the case now, and would not be likely to vote for it, even if the caucus should so decide. Mr. Sani-bury, Chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, argued strongly for immediate disposal of the case, and said it would be an indignity and reflection on the committee not to do it. Mr. Jones said the people of Louisiana had not been treated as they should have been by a Democratic majority of the Senate. They were indignant and enraged at the delay of unseating Kellogg, and he considered it quite likely that Louisiana would go Republican next fall if Kellogg was not tarred out.

THE ARMY BILL.

The Proposed Amendment to the Army Appropriation Bill.
WASHINGTON, April 8.—The proposed amendment to the army appropriation bill concerning the use of troops at the polls for police purposes, which was ruled in order to-day, is an exact copy of the clause which was incorporated in the army appropriation bill finally passed last year at the extra session, and which obtained the President's approval. All but 100 of the Republican members of the House of Representatives then voted for it, and although it was subsequently opposed by the solid body of Republicans in the Senate, President Hayes took the ground that it amounted to nothing, and therefore signed the bill. It does not prohibit the use of troops at the polls, but simply provides that no proportion of money appropriated by the bill shall be paid for transportation, equipment, subsistence, or compensation of any troops to be employed for such purposes. President Hayes has repeatedly declared he has no desire or intention to use troops for mere "political purposes," but if he did so desire it is evident this clause would not practically stand in his way, because troops marched to the polls from neighboring barracks would not require transportation, equipment, etc., for any such purpose. He will therefore undoubtedly sign the present bill, although the rider be put upon it, of which, however, there is some doubt, as the Republicans intend to vote solidly against it, and a considerable number of Democrats have privately intimated they care nothing for it.

TILDEN.

His Version of the Sprague Matter.
NEW YORK, April 8.—A reported called on Mr. Tilden to inquire whether Mr.
Sprague was correct in his belief that Mr.
Finley had no authority to represent Tilden in respect to the Donnelly election case, or to make any communication in behalf of Mr. Tilden to Mr. Sprague. Mr.
Tilden said Mr. Sprague was perfectly correct. Mr. Finley had no right to represent Mr. Tilden in that matter or anything else. Mr. Tilden has in no way whatever, directly or indirectly, interfered with any election case before the Committee. He has never expressed any wish to any human being concerning the Donnelly election case. He is not and has not been in communication with Mr. Finley. Mr.

Sprague knew perfectly well that, if Mr.
Tilden had any communication to make to him on that or any other subject, he would have done so directly, as he has had plenty of opportunities to do so.
Mr. Tilden has several times lately held the pleasure of seeing Mr. Sprague, but on no occasion did Mr. Tilden say a word about any election case pending before the House of Representatives.

SWIFT RETRIBUTION.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 8.—A singular tragedy is reported here to-night from the Illinois side of the river. Late in the afternoon a tramp was given food at the house of a farmer named Fullerton, on the Cairo Short-Line Road, not far from East St. Louis. The family left, and the tramp returning burglarized the house and was escaping with his booty when Fullerton came back. There was a pursuit, and Fullerton caught up with the tramp on the railroad track, when a desperate struggle ensued.
The two men grappled and fell, and were on the ground together when a train came dashing around a curve at full speed. Fullerton, hearing the noise of the train, tore himself from the tramp's grasp and leaped from the track, being struck slightly by the engine as he did so. The tramp-burglar also leaped up, but too late. He was struck by the engine and instantly killed, his body, with the plunder beside it, being found crushed upon the track after the train had passed. The body of the victim of swift retribution could not be identified.

MOODY'S WORK.

ST. LOUIS, April 8.—The Young Men's Christian Association of this city have purchased the Union Methodist church, corner of Eleventh and Locust streets, and will proceed at once to fit it up for the purposes of their organization. The price paid for the property is $37,000. D. L.
Moody, the Evangelist, who has just closed his winter's work here, was the leading spirit in this undertaking. It was largely through his influence and personal excitations that the purchase money was raised.
It is intended to increase the fund to $50,- 000, which will enable the Association to put the property in fine order and prosecute the work vigorously and well. The money so far has been subscribed by leading citizens of all denominations, and a much interest has been taken in the movement by all classes.

THE WHITTAKER CASE.

WEST POINT, April 8.—General Schofield has appointed as a board of inquiry in the Whittaker case, which assemblies to-morrow, Major Mordecai, Captain Raymond and Lieutenant Knight. Lieutenant Seaf will be recorder.
WASHINGTON, April 8.—The Adjutant General has received the following dispatch from General Schofield at West Point: "All the cadets disclaim any knowledge whatever of the attack on Cadet Whittaker. A thorough examination has shown that he received no injury except slight cuts from which he had quite freely."

SCORCHED CHEESE.

WHITWATER, April 8.—The Cold Spring cheese factory, belonging to Wm.
Marshall, two miles north of Whitewater, burned this afternoon. It was the best equipped factory in this section, and has been running all winter. Mr. Marshall estimates his loss at $6,000. The fire caught from the engine chimney, which was burning out. No insurance.

MILITARY.

OSHKOSH, April 8.—Adjutant General Bryant to-night mustered in the Brooklyn Rifles, the new military company organized on the South side a short time ago.
The Oshkosh guards marched in a body to the hall of the new company and witnessed the muster. The new company is composed of 67 members and starts out under favorable auspices.

THE INSANE HOSPITAL.

MADISON, April 8.—Gov. Smith has appointed Senators Sutherland, McGrew and Smith a committee to investigate the affairs of the Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane, under the provision of the joint resolution of request passed at the last session of the Legislature.

WATER-WORKS.

EAU CLAIRE, April 8.—The city has contracted with St. Louis parties for building water works, which will cost about $250,000. The Delta Improvement Company guarantees $6000 and the city pays nearly $1,000 for the use of hydrants per annum.

BRALEY'S MAJORITY.

MADISON, April 8.—Returns from all the towns in the county except one give Judge Braley 175 majority over Parkinson. The county interest has made the majority 150, but not more than that.

Getting to the Bear.

From Harper's Magazine.
While Jackson's corps was cautiously moving to the flank and rear of the Union army at Chancellorsville, the confederate army in advance became engaged with the enemy. Soon a wound and bleeding trooper was seen emerging from the woods in front. After looking around, he moved in the direction from which the infantry were marching, as if seeking the rear, or, as the average gray jacket would say, the "r.r." Soon afterward rapid firing explained that the bluejackets had closed in behind Jackson, and it was not long before the poor cavalryman was seen coming back again. When opposite the "Stone Wall" another cavalryman from the front also arrived. No. 1 at once recognized him and said: "Hello, Bill—wounded?" "Yes," said No. 2 "but not bad. Let's get to the 'r.r.'" At which No. 1 exclaimed: "This is the damnest fight I have been in yet. It ain't got no 'r.r.'"

WITHOUT A PARALLEL.

The Most Amazing Case of Vitality on Record—A Well Authenticated Instance of a Chicken Living After Decapitation.

[From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, April 5.
"You do not seem to take much stock in the curiosity up on Beaumont and Market streets," said Rev. Wm. Ferguson, of the Central Baptist, a skeptical Post-Dispatch reporter last evening. "I pledge you my word that there is one of the greatest curiosities in the world at the butcher shop, southeast corner of Beaumont or Twenty-seventh and Market streets. It is a decapitated live chicken.
I did not believe it when a friend told me, but he said he would have me miles in,
and taking a two dollar bill from his pocket he said, 'This will pay you for your trip, and if it is a hoax you can keep this money.' It is a fact."
"What forfeit will you leave with me if the facts do not turn out as you say?"
"Well, if there is not a decapitated live chicken moving about as I say at the place mentioned, I give you permission to write me up as the greatest living liar." As this forfeit for a practical joke made it worth while to investigate, a reporter started for the place mentioned. The shop generally called the Beaumont market is No. 2,630 Market street, situated on a southeast corner of the intersection of Beaumont and Market streets. The place Louis Niemeyer, who, with William Kainstein, owns the place, was in charge.
"Have you live chicken without a head?" asked the reporter.
"Yes, we have; why do you wish to know?"
"I want to write it up, for it is a curiosity."
"Oh! all right. I wish you would write a nice piece about it, because then somebody that might want a curiosity will see it and call." During this conversation the butcher led the way to the rear portion of the establishment partitioned off from the rest of the shop for a sleeping room.

On a box in one side of the room stood a headless speckled hen, expanding and contracting in size as it breathed. It was balanced in an upright board on the box's side and was scarcely able to retain its position, the motion resulting from breathing almost unbalancing it every few moments. It was without a head, the mangled neck being the only thing that was visible.
"It is no fraud," continued Niemeyer.
"Take it up and handle it and see for yourself that there is no deception about this thing."
The reporter whose vision did not exactly satisfy his doubts, accepted the invitation, and taking up the fowl made a closer examination. The head was severed from the body about an inch and a half distant from where the neck joints the body. There was nothing abnormal in any other portion of the chicken's carcass except the neck. The neck was easily examined; the raw flesh and bone had not healed up and were black and dirty. Immediately under this was a white tube of the substance of a wind-pipe in an animal, of a yellowish white color and muscular in touch. Further than this there was nothing remarkable about the chicken, the crop and various other portions that attract the attention of every one examining the chicken being but normally developed.

"How did you come to kill this chicken and discover its vitality?"
"Well, on last Friday, to-day a week ago, about three o'clock in the afternoon, I went down into the cellar to kill four dozen chickens for sale, and this one was among the number. As it was easy job to kill forty-eight chickens, I just got a barrel near me and the chickens, and used to take one up and lay it on the block, cutting its head off with one blow. Then I threw all the bodies into one corner and the heads into the barrel. After I finished I came up stairs to get some hot water to soak the chickens with and in the meantime Eugene Poy, a boy who is working with me, went down into the cellar for something and came running up into the shop saying that the headless chicken was walking over the dead bodies of all the rest and walking about the cellar. I told the boy to bring it up into the store, but he seemed frightened and didn't like to go near the thing. We thought it would die, though it was able to walk then. I never heard of a chicken without a head living, so I washed it off and put it in the cellar again, where I left it until the next day, when we got it and brought it up here.
On Sunday last it was weak, feeble, and moved about slowly, but on Monday it became energetic and jumped about the place, running into barrels and boxes.
It continued in this state Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. To-day it again became weak and sickly looking as it is now."

"How do you feed it?"
"You can see for yourself about that.
I use corn and gravel," and with this he took up a large grain, and holding the chicken in his lap he put the grain into the tube visible at the neck. Then with a small wooden skipper used to pin meat together, he forced the grain back a short distance, when the chicken made a motion similar to swallowing, and the grain disappeared from view. He then took it to a hydrant and sink, when he let a small stream of water from the nozzle, holding the headless chicken in such a manner that the neck just touched it. Immediately it drew back, and, lifting its neck, swallowed the drops that clung to the mutilated part. Then it extended its neck again, striking the stream and drawing back and exclaiming its neck again. This motion, the exact one a chicken or bird makes when drinking, was repeated several times, when the neck was drawn back entirely.
"Do you think that the chicken will live?"
"I don't know. I hope it will. It is now about two hours over one week, and a great many people say that if it lives nine days it will recover and be as well as ever. I think if it does it will be able to pick up things as I was before I cut the head off of it. Now if true to pick up things, but it is afraid of losing its balance, and before the neck touches the ground, it draws itself suddenly back."
"What do you intend to do with it?"
"If it gets well and is able to move about like any chicken, I will sell it to P.
T. Barnum or some museum. I don't know just yet what I would take for it, but it is a very curious case, and I think we could get a good price for it from some person."

"Have you had a physician to view it since it became weakly?"
"No. Dr. Hodgen was to have come up to-day to look at it, but he has not come yet. I don't think he will come at all today."
Dr. Bates, McCarthy and Walton dropped in to look at the headless chicken, and pronounced it a case of vitality without a parallel on record. The greatest brain injury which did not result in immediate death, was that of a man whose skull is now on exhibition of the New York Museum. While blasting rock a crowbar was blown through his head, but he lived for twelve years, and finally died from some other cause. A case of entire decapitation, where life did not become extinct within the space of a few hours, has never been known until the above.

From Capt. Fox, Mr. William Falconer, and Officer John McCoy, of the Mounted Police District, the reporter learned that the statements of Mr. Niemeyer in regard to the facts concerning this curiosity are correct. Several of the policemen saw the fowl immediately after the decapitation Tuesday evening and almost every day since. The owner cheerfully exhibits the curiosity to callers, who crowd the shop from morning to night.

A Ghost Don't Sneeze.

From the Charlotte Observer.
At a convivial gathering after the theatre, Mr. Barney Macaulay related to a party of appreciative young men many amusing stories of his experience on the stage. "I used to be in tragedy," said he,
"and for a long time played the 'Ghost' to Ned Booth's 'Hamlet.' We were in Cincinnati on a gorgeous stage, and before a tremendous audience. As I stood," said he,
"dropping into the attitude and 'ghostly' tones of the 'ghost,' and was saying, 'My hour is almost come, when I to sulphurous and tormenting flames must render up myself,' I was seized with a desire to sneeze; therefore, to sneeze was to be ruined, once and forever. I never through such torment before: my frame shook like a leaf." "And did you sneeze?" asked one. "No, I bore it like a soldier, but the faces I made completely paralyzed Booth, and the scene came near being a failure. He afterward told me he thought I was going mad, and never in his life experienced such sensations on the stage. Gentlemen, pray that you may never want to sneeze when the sneeze lies in ruin," and from the tragedy of the situation he fell into the comedy of the "Deputy Sheriff of Jarvis Section."

they know from personal knowledge. The Voorhees committee was unquestionably raised to manufacture political capital, but has most singularly failed of the object for which it was intended; it was designed for mischief, but will result in some good.

DEMOCRATS STILL PLOTTING TO SEIZE RE-PUBLICAN STATES.

The Democrats are still at work maturing plans to steal enough Republican States to elect a Democratic President, provided by any chicanery, the election can be gotten into the House of Representatives. There are about a dozen contested seats to be disposed of, most of them of long standing; some of them rest on extremely frivolous grounds, but when the emergency comes for filling more Democratic seats, these cases can readily be magnified into importance. Three of these contested cases, are of especial importance, because they involve the vote of these States in the election of President, provided the people fail to elect in November next. These States are Louisiana, Minnesota, and Florida. If Orth, of Indiana, and Washburn, of Minnesota, are unseated, and Bibb, of Florida, is refused his seat, the Democrats will have the majority of the Congressional representation in these States. The claim of Bibb, of Florida, was recognized a just one, by many Democrats over a year ago, and doubt his seat would have been given him, but the Democrats have since been calculating their possible future necessities, and probably believe the extremely will justify them in doing a wrong.

EXHIBITION OF SOUTHERN SENTIMENT.

If there localities in the South where freedom of speech, and liberties of the press are tolerated, as freely as in northern States, such a locality is an exception. A northern man, need not travel far into any of the late insurrectionary States, to find himself in an atmosphere quite different as regards free speech, from that to which he has been accustomed to. No one can hardly go out of sight of the dome of the Nation Capitol, on the Virginia side of the Potomac, without occasionally encountering a proscriptionist element, that reminds him that he had better forego his constitutional rights, and not talk too freely. The ancient city of Alexandria, on only seven miles below Washington on the Potomac, has had its population much thinned out since the war, but the city, once having been the greatest slave market in old Virginia, it is not singular that a deep seated pro-slavery sentiment exists. It was here where before the war, large droves of human chatties, were brought in and imprisoned, in the State market house to await purchasers from the more distant South.

An event occurred in Alexandria a few weeks ago, which would not have been thought of sufficient importance for a newspaper paragraph, had it occurred fifty miles further south, but being about under the shadow of the National Capitol, may be of interest to mention. Dr. Thomas Foster, made arrangements to publish a weekly paper in that city entitled the Liberal, and contracted with a job office in that place to do the press work. After the first number appeared, it seems to have been distasteful to some of the citizens, the proprietor of the office was waited upon by a committee, and warned to desist from working the Liberal on his press. Thereupon the proprietor of the office notified Dr. Foster that he had been forced by threats to give up the contract. Dr. Foster then went to Washington and bargained with the National Republican office, to print his paper. On bringing his paper ready printed to Alexandria, on the landing of the ferry boat at the wharf, he was seized by three men with drawn pistols, severely beaten, and the entire edition of his paper thrown into the river. The men who committed this violent assault, it is alleged, acted under the direction of prominent citizens of the town. This is a summary way they have Virginia of ridding themselves of people, with whom they are not in sympathy. Dr. Foster has instituted a suit, but whether a Virginia Court will render him justice, is not yet known. M. F.

Her Face is Her Fortune.

New York Cor. Boston Herald.

"Do you see that pretty girl at the cashier's desk?" said an acquaintance at the most fashionable millinery establishment in New York to a newspaper correspondent. "Well, they talk about Maudie Branscombe and Mary Anderson being the most pictured women in America, but that girl beats them both combined. She poses as a hat-black before the camera several times every week of her life. The fashion shown in the plates used by half the milliners in the United States, as well as in the millinery pictures in three of the leading fashion weeklies, are all provided by this concern. They are obtained by photographing the hats that are regarded as best illustrating the new styles. This girl, as you see, has what may be called a negative face. Her features are small, regular and without any strong characteristics, but being a face that is both pretty and commonplace. With such a face, any possible style of hat or bonnet is becoming, and they use her in all the photographs. The engraver sometimes injures the likeness, yet she is recognizable in all the pictures. Her face is her fortune—or, at least, it is good for about $10 a week."

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1880.

CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—Temperance night.
—April took a smile to-day.
—There's a move in real estate circles.
—Sam Day, of Chicago, was seen upon our streets to-day.

—Rents seem to be slightly advancing on all sorts of property.
—Rev. E. C. Trimble, of Seymour, Ind. is to occupy the Presbyterian pulpit next Sunday.

—The Merry Club make merry this evening with Tuckwood's orchestra to furnish the music.

—There is going to be some "Style" to the Round Table to-morrow night. That's the subject for talk and thought.

—Some marked improvements are being made in sidewalks, gutters, curbing, grading, etc., around the Baptist church.

—Mr. Cyrus Miner has returned from Madison. There seems little show for Janesville to have the State Fair this year.

—Some Darien veterans were in the city yesterday picking up information as to how to proceed to organize a militia company in that village. The military seems to be booming in Southern Wisconsin.

—There isn't much chance for a runaway horse now. He can't distinguish himself unless he tries to climb one of the moving buildings, which now shut up the highways, and prove a bar to a long run.

—E. V. Whiton & Co. are scattering among the readers of the Gazette a goodly amount of information concerning McCormack Bros' homeopathic remedies, which they have for sale in vials at fifteen cents, and in family cases. Ed. is always doing something to stir folk up, and keep them posted.

—Richardson Bros. are having an opening at each of their stores, the whole front of one being out and the whole end of the other. It would have been an excellent chance to get shoes for nothing last night, had it not been that each place was guarded by a man, a bull-pup, two shot guns and a club.

—Craig was released from jail to-day having served three months for having mutilated tombstones in the Evansville cemetery. He was at once arrested on another warrant, and brought before Justice Brooks. The case was continued one week, and in default of bail Craig was led back to jail.

—A. E. Morse, Janesville's boss checker player, now has his name hoisted at the top of one of the columns of the Sentinel, he being checker editor. Those who delight in checkers say he is doing himself proud, and is giving the readers of his column some enjoyable reading matter, problems, etc. We always thought he would get into some such scrape as this if he kept fooling with those black and white squares.

—Most popular New York Hotel, the Astor House.

—FIREMEN'S FRANCHISES.
At the regular election of the Rescue Hook & Ladder Company last evening, the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Foreman—Thomas Mahon.
Asst. Foreman—Tony Brown.
Secretary—W. E. Spicer.
Treasurer—Patrick Farrell.

—BENEVOLENT BALLOTS.
The St. George Benevolent Association met, last evening, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—C. L. Martin.
Vice President—J. C. Fox.
Treasurer—Henry Rogers.
Secretary—Wm. Bladon.

—A JOYOUS GATHERING.
Last evening was most heartily enjoyed by about two hundred friends who gathered at Apollo and Lappin's Music hall, in response to the invitations sent them by Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Schicker and Miss Ida Schicker. The occasion was the twentieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Schicker's marriage, but this fact was made known only after the arrival of the guests, so there was no apparent hint that anything was expected beyond the enjoyment of the guests. It was as dressy a party as has been given in this city, and when the enjoyment was at its height the gathering presented a brilliant appearance indeed. All that was needful for the full enjoyment of all was carefully provided and all the attentions incident to such an event were paid the guests in such a courteous and hospitable manner, as to make the participants happy indeed. In Apollo hall the merry dance was kept up with a zest, Anderson's orchestra furnishing excellent music. In Lappin's Music hall the tables were spread in a very bountiful and tempting manner, and no more enjoyable refreshments have been served at any social gathering in this city. That is saying much, but it is true. The whole occasion was such as is worthy of high praise, and will not soon be forgotten. Mr. and Mrs. Schicker, in starting out from this first score of their married life have the best wishes of many true friends, who trust that still more joy and prosperity may be theirs in the years to come.

—THE WEATHER.
REPORTED BY PRENTICE & RYNDORF, DRUGGISTS.
The thermometer at 6 o'clock last evening stood at 48 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m. to day at 33 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 34 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 65 degrees above. Clear.

The indications to-day are for the upper lake region, warmer, clear or partly cloudy weather, winds mostly from southwest to northwest and generally lower barometer.

—Persons suffering from impure blood, or whose health is giving way, either as ministers or those who study closely, will find in Fellows' Hypophosphites Syrup the material to build them up and the tonic to keep them there.

—I. C. Brownell, 51 North Main street, has just received a shipment of New Maple Sugar, also Maple Syrup in gallon cans. Try it, if you want the genuine.

Pretty and Young.
In every feature but the hair, which had grown white from fever. This lady at 35 writes us: "I have used Parker's Hair Balsam six months and am more than pleased with it. It has restored the natural brown color of my hair and given it a silky softness, nicer than ever before. There is no dandruff, no falling hair, and it leaves the scalp so clean and nice and cool that I am over so much pleased, and I feel and look like myself again. The beautiful, fresh and vigorous hair it produces, together with its property of restoring gray or faded hair to the natural youthful color, and entirely freeing the head from dandruff and itching, surprises me no less than it pleases. Sold in large bottles at only 50 cents and $1.00 by all first class druggists."

Mothers! Mothers! Mothers!
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle.

From Rev. John Gregory, Pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church at Pittston, Pa.
My Dear Sir:—Having at various times personally, and in my own and other families, tested the great value of the medicine called PARVIAN Syrup or Protected Solution of Protoxide of Iron, I most cheerfully recommend it, especially to those who are suffering from dyspeptic and nervous disorders. As a reliable and powerful alternative, it is, I think, unsurpassed; and as a tonic, free from all the objectionable features of alcoholic remedies, it is a most efficient auxiliary to the temperance cause. One of the greatest hindrances to the temperance reform at present is, as I think, the medical use of alcoholic stimulants. Whatever may be argued as to their necessity in certain cases, we have, in the PARVIAN Syrup a safe and efficient substitute for these dangerous remedies. This testimony is given unhesitatingly, with the hope that some who are not yet acquainted with the valuable properties of the medicine may be induced to give it a trial. Sold by all druggists. For sale in Janesville by Frentice & Ryndorf.

Dr. V. CLARENCE PRICE
—R A B—
Visited Janesville
EIGHTEEN YEARS.
HAS met with unparalleled success in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases
—OF THE—
THROAT,
LUNGS,
HEART,
STOMACH,
LIVER.

Head, nerves, kidneys, bladder, womb, and blood affections of the urinary organs, gravel, scrofula, rheumatism, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, dyspepsia, &c.
Dr. Price's reputation has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.
My practice, not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattery. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained of years of experience in the treatment of Chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Cautious in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for themselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. Visits made regularly. —:—
